Associate

Julia Wittman is a member of Quarles & Brady's Litigation and Dispute Resolution Practice Group. Julia represents clients across the country in a broad variety of commercial disputes. She has represented clients in the direct sales, education, franchising, alcohol beverage, and other industries in state and federal courts nationwide. Julia has been involved in all aspects of litigation, including pre-lawsuit negotiations, discovery, motion practice, settlements, trial preparation, trial, and post-trial motions. Additionally, Julia has advocated for clients in both state and federal appellate courts. When representing clients in any sector, Julia takes a passionate and solutions-driven approach to litigation, thinking strategically about both the business and legal issues at play.

Julia's experience includes:

- Defending multi-national brewer against claims for violation of alcohol beverage franchise laws.
- Defending direct sales companies in federal class action RICO, securities fraud, consumer fraud, and tort lawsuits and in consumer fraud actions brought by state attorneys general.
- Representing direct sales companies in FTC and state attorneys general investigations, including responding to Civil Investigative Demands.
- Defending health care providers in class actions involving alleged violations of medical records statutes and tort claims.
- Defending franchisor in arbitration involving claims for wrongful termination and unlawful competition.
- Defending private educational institution against breach of contract, tort, retaliation, and other claims brought by former students and employees.
- Providing regulatory counsel in alcohol beverage space.
