

Ryan D. Rainey

Associate

Ryan Rainey is a corporate litigation attorney who focuses his practice on developing litigation strategies at all stages of a dispute, across a variety of industries.

He represented noncitizens seeking asylum and other forms of legal status as a student attorney for the Immigration and Human Rights Clinic while in law school. Ryan also assisted with consumer protection matters as a summer fellow for the Wisconsin Department of Justice.

Prior to law school, Ryan worked as a Washington, DC-based journalist covering international trade policy and federal financial regulation.
