

Stacy A. Alexejun

Associate

Stacy Alexejun is an experienced litigator with a focus on product liability defense litigation and intellectual property litigation.

Stacy has experience defending against product liability claims involving various products, including forklifts, trailers, and lead paint. She regularly manages complex electronic discovery, handles expert and fact witness depositions, and briefs summary judgment and pretrial motions.

Stacy also represents clients in many aspects of intellectual property enforcement and litigation, with an emphasis in trademark, trade secret, copyright, and unfair competition matters. Her practice consists of cease and desist actions, inter partes proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, domain disputes, and litigation before state and federal courts.

Prior to joining Quarles & Brady, Stacy served as a law clerk to Justice Annette Kingsland Ziegler of the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Her recent experience includes:

- Defended manufacturer of rough terrain forklifts against defective design and failure to warn claims.
- Represented financial services company in significant lawsuit against two former investment advisors, alleging breach of a non-compete agreement, breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing, breach of loyalty, tortious interference, and civil conspiracy.
- Represented healthcare software company seeking to protect its trade secrets from disclosure under public records law. Obtained injunctive relief prohibiting disclosure of client's trade secrets.
- Defended gas station against alleged violations of Wisconsin's Unfair Sales Act. Obtained order favorably interpreting the Act's meeting competition exception.
- Representation of companies in trademark opposition and cancellation proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board.
- Representation of companies in trademark enforcement programs.
- Representation of companies in patent infringement matters.
