About Dan

First-chair IP trial advocacy and adversary proceedings counsel

Dan Young is an intellectual property (IP) advocate and counselor working to resolve clients' IP disputes and protect their ideas and innovations. He has advised clients on IP protection for a wide range of technologies for more than 20 years and his practice focuses on all aspects of IP law.

Dan approaches each client issue as a unique situation that requires a unique solution. Whether the circumstances require a simple negotiation or complex litigation, he works with each client to develop a resolution that best fits each client's situation.

Before joining the legal profession, Dan served as an engineer officer in the United States Army and United States Army Reserve.
