About Lauren

Intellectual property assistance in technical areas

Lauren Bolcar assists clients with patent, trademark and copyright disputes. She has represented clients in litigation in district courts as well as before the U.S. International Trade Commission, the Patent Trial and Appeal Board and in private arbitration. She represents clients across a wide variety of technical areas, including oil and gas, cellular phone technology and touch screen technology.

Prior to joining the firm, Lauren served as a trial attorney in the Intellectual Property section of the U.S. Department of Justice's Civil Division, where she was responsible for litigating patent, trademark and copyright matters involving the U.S. as a defending party. Lauren devised litigation strategy, managed all phases of discovery, led oral arguments and provided counseling for various government agencies, including the U.S. Copyright Office and U.S. Small Business Administration. Before joining the legal industry, Lauren worked as a process engineer for a Fortune 100 chemical company.
